Der Superwikingerknoten

Wieder einmal hatte Gunnar, der Grimmige, versucht, das Dorf Midstöd einzunehmen. Er war auf der Jagd nach dem verschollenen Schatz, der angeblich hier versteckt sein sollte. Doch Gunnars Krieger hatten die Rechnung ohne Wikingerschäufel Einar und seine Männer gemacht. Sie verteidigten ihr Dorf mit allen Kräften und schlugen die Angreifer erfolgreich in die Flucht. Ausgelassen feierten die Midstöder und ihre Familien den Triumph beim Lagerfeuer mit Speis und Trank. Danach lauschten sie bis in die frühen Morgenstunden Jörnson, dem Geschichtenerzähler von Midstöd.

Tags darauf lag die Stedlung verschlafen in der Sonne. Eine kühle Brise wehte vom Meer her übers Land. Bei der Anlegestelle, wo sich große Drachenboote und kleine Ruderkähne aneinanderreihen, war Fynn, der Hüpflingssohn, damit beschäftigt, Seemannsknoten zu üben. So wurden die

Ihre Flügel schlugen noch einmal verzweifelt in der Luft, dann kippte die Kräfte zur Seite und sie bewegte sich nicht mehr. In stottern Sturzflug ratterte sie zu Boden. Valeros kratzte ihre Finger in Linus Schoberts. „Was ist passiert?“

„Salyra ist ohnmächtig.“ Linus stotterte zitternd. „Aufwachen!“

Die goldenen Schwingen schlenkerten in der Luft hin und her. Schreitend trummelten die Mädchen auf das Pferd ein. Doch Salyra reagiere nicht. Sie stürzten weiter unkontrolliert zu Boden.

Die Ängste kroch zurück in Linus Herz und brütete sich endlich in ihrem Atem aus. Salyra. Schöne! Die Geschichte wiederholte sich. In diesem Moment spürte sie Valeros Atem an ihrem Ohr. „Wehe, du kippest jetzt auch weg. Das ist nicht was dein Vater damals. Du hast die Ängste überwunden. Bleib gefälligst bei mir. Ich schaffe das mit dir gemeinsam.“

Extract:

The fox and the sour grapes

A fox almost with hunger dying,
Some grapes on a trellis spying,
To all appearances ripe, clad in
Their tempting russet skin,
Most gladly would have eat them;
But he could not reach them,
Ripe and rosy yet so high!
He gazes at them with a greedy eye
And knows he must eat and drink – or die
When the jump proves beyond his power
“Pooh!” says the fox. “Let the pigs devour
Fruit of that sort. Those grapes are sour!”

Jean de La Fontaine

The world's most beautiful fables

In this wonderful new volume, Käthe Recheis recounts more than 40 of the world's most beautiful fables.

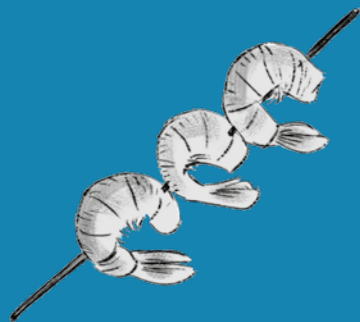

This treasure trove includes fables from Aesop, Lessing and La Fontaine, traditional Native American stories as well as tales from China and Africa. The wisdom in these stories is as valid today as it was when they were first told. Käthe Recheis employs clear prose to tell her chosen fables without the single wag of a moralising finger. These are updated classics, retold for the children of today.

Spät am Abend dann, der Pauli lag schon länger im Bett und dachte darüber nach, was er und die Rosi den vier Andromiden morgen am besten vorschreiben sollte, um die zusehender und Fonia von ihnen zu machen, hier er seine Mutter heimkommen und im Wohnzimmer keine sein. Da seine Mutter bisher beim Heimkommen noch nie hellhörigste gefühlt hatte, nahm der Pauli an, dass sie nicht allein war.

Selber schuld, dachte er, ich habe ihr ja mein Okay leichfertig gegeben. Kann überlegen es, wie es wäre, wenn er aufstehen, den Roland begrüßen, ihm eine angenehme Nachtruhe wünschen, und ihn eruchen würde, am Morgen unter der Dusche nicht allzu laut zu singen. Er entschied, dass er dazu viel zu müde ist und das auch seiner Mutter nicht anraten kann.

Obwohl, dachte er gähnend, obwohl ... obwohl ... obwohl sie sich schon einen hüte anschauen können, der besser zu mir passt – und nicht so einen kleinsten Ritzbeuge.

10. Kapitel.

in welchem Kopf Pauli gemacht werden und sich die Rosi über den Pauli ärgern muss und indem ihre Pflge verschalt.

Am nächsten Morgen, als der Pauli aufwachte, war es so mucksmäulig in der Wohnung wie an jedem anderen Schlags nach. Seine Mutter war schon ins Büro gefahren und vom Bed-and-breakfast-Gast war keine Spur mehr zu sehen. Nicht einmal ein ausgefallenes Haar im Waschbecken. Und falls er sich die Zähne putzen haben sollte, musste er die Zahnbürste wieder mitgenommen haben.

Die Küche war blutblank aufgeräumt, ohne die üblichen Frühstückstische seiner Mutter. Statt einer Schüssel angebratenen Toastens, einer beheizten Kaffeemaschine und einem ausgefallenen Ei lag ein Set auf dem Küchentisch, darauf eine Tasse mit einem Teebeutel drin und eine Topfentafelchen unter Frühstückstisch und eine Serviette. Seine Mutter hatte ihm das sicher nicht zurechtgelegt, also konnte es nur dieser Roland gewesen sein.

100 Milliliter Schlagsahne
1 Prise Salz, wenn nötig

In einen Topf die Butter schmelzen. Zwiebel einrühren und bei mittlerer Hitze schmoren, bis die Zwiebel glasig, also leicht durchsichtig ist und es im Topf bräunelt. Paprikastücke einrühren und ein paar Minuten mitschmoren. Wasser zugießen, Suppenpulver einrühren. Topf zudecken, Hitze reduzieren und die Suppe ungefähr 10 Minuten köcheln. Schlagobers in den Topf dazugießen und die Suppe mit einem Schneidmesser pürieren. Der Schneidmesser vom Mixer muss ganz in der Suppe eingetaucht sein, bevor du einschaltest, sonst spritzt die Suppe aus dem Topf!

Suppe kosten, eventuell noch ein wenig salzen, umrühren und in Suppenteller schöpfen.

Schnüffel Junior löst ersten Fall

„Wir haben in einen Stadtplan alle Orte eingzeichnet, an denen Fahrräder gestohlen wurden“, schildert Maximilian, den seine Freunde nur Max nennen. „Dann haben wir ein Muster erkannt und Lea und mir war sofort klar, wo die Diebe sind.“

Die unheimliche Serie an Fahrraddiebstählen in Klaindorf in der Steiermark konnte endlich beendet werden. Der neunjährige Maximilian Kager und seine beste Freundin Lea Waldl gaben der Polizei den entscheidenden Hinweis.

Onkel ebenfalls Detektiv

Fahrraddiebe als nächstes zuschlagen werden!“ Daraufhin legten sich die beiden Kinder auf die Lauer. Als es dunkel wurde, erschienen drei maskierte Männer und machten sich an den Fahrrädern zu schaffen. Ohne zu zögern riefen die Nachwuchsdetektive die Polizei. Wenig später wurde die Bande festgenommen. Lea und Max wurden von Bürgermeister Willi Wichtl und Polizeipräsident Harald Handschellinger geehrt.

Max lehnt sich aus dem Fenster: „Keine Spur von ihm!“ Plötzlich klingelt sein Handy. Es ist Koko. „Kommt schnell, bitte!“, sagt er. „Es ist etwas Schreckliches passiert!“

Max und Lea schauen einander erschrocken an. „Was ist los?“, fragt Max, doch Koko hat schon aufgelegt.

Lea und Max schnappen sich ihre Räder und fahren zur Villa der Gräfin von Klunker.

Hier wohnt Koko mit seiner Großmutter. Das Haus ist riesig, fast wie ein Schloss. Koko erwartet seine Freunde schon an der Haustür. Er ist noch blasser als sonst und sieht sehr besorgt aus. „Hier, das habe ich im Briefkasten gefunden!“, sagt er und streckt den beiden einen Zettel entgegen. Lea liest laut vor:

Unheimliches geschieht

Augustas Eltern und Tante Lisa waren so froh, dass den Kindern nichts geschehen war, dass sie auf lange Schimpfereien verzichteten. Es blieb bei ersten Ermahnungen, aber das war es auch schon. Augusta, Julia und Max versprochen hoch und heilig, in Zukunft nicht mehr so unvorsichtig zu sein, damit gaben sich die Erwachsenen zufrieden.

Die ganze Aufregung verlangte nach einer Stärkung. Es gab eine zünftige Jause, bald danach gingen alle zu Bett.

„Augusta – kannst du mich begleiten?“
Augusta wälzte sich gähnend auf die Seite und blickte ihre Schwester an, die eine Taschenlampe in der Hand hielt. „Oh nein“, sagte sie unwillig. „es ist mitten in der Nacht. Kannst du es dir nicht verkneifen?“
„Es geht nicht. Ich muss.“ Julia trat von einem Fuß auf den anderen.

„Das nächste Mal lässt du die Finger von Tante Lisas Hollundersaft. Oder trink zumindest nicht drei Gläser vor dem Schlafengehen.“

Julia zuckte verlegen mit den Achseln. „Aber wenn er doch so gut ist.“

Die beiden Mädchen verließen die Kammer und schlichen die Stiege hinab. Leise öffneten sie die Tür und traten vor die Hütte. Der Vollmond stand am Himmel, verschwand immer wieder hinter den Wolken, die vorbeizogen.

Augusta wollte gerade weitergehen, als sie stutzte.

„Hörst du das?“

Julia lauschte angestrengt von den Bergen her, doch schien der Wind es klagen ... den Mädchen aus längst vergangener Zeit. Die beiden Schwestern schüttelten sie den Kopf. Holzhäuschen zu, das h

„Darf ich die Taschenlampe mit hineinnehmen? Sonst ist es so dunkel.“
„Klar“, sagte Augusta, „nicht dass du hineinfallst.“
Julia grinste, dann schloss sie die Tür hinter sich. Augusta wartete. Ihr Blick glitt über die Hütte, weiter nach vorne, wo der Stall lag. Von irgendwoher war der Ruf einer Eule zu hören.
Dann trat der Mond hinter den Wolken hervor und Augusta blieb fast das Herz stehen.
In der Öffnung im oberen Stock war eine Gestalt zu sehen. Sie streckte Augusta die Hand entgegen.

Das Mädchen stöhnte, brachte kein Wort hervor.
„Was ist denn?“ Julia war neben sie getreten, starrte sie verwundert an.
„Da. Im Stall.“ Augusta deutete nach vorne, brachte kaum ein Wort hervor. „Da – da war jemand.“
„Das hatten wir doch schon alles“, erwiderte Julia nachsichtig. „Das ist nur der Spiegel.“
„Nein, das war nicht der Spiegel. Du musst mir glauben!“
Julia blickte nun ebenfalls hin. Aber nichts war zu sehen, keine Gestalt, niemand. Ruhig lagen Hütte und Stall da. Julia klopfte Augusta auf die Schulter. „Komm, große Schwester. Gehen wir wieder ins Bett.“
Augusta nickte zögernd. Sie gingen los, umrundeten die Hütte und bogen um die Ecke, dorthin, wo der Eingang lag.
Und erstarrten.
Eine Gestalt stand vor ihnen, keinen Meter entfernt. Sie hatte einen altertümlichen Mantel mit Kapuze an.
